

WASHINGTON POST
AND TIMES HERALD

MAY 12 1964

STATINTL

The spy trial of Swedish air force Col. Stig Wennerstroem, charged with spying for Russia, was opened to the public yesterday for the first time since the trial opened April 9. Wennerstroem, a former attache in Moscow and Washington, told the packed courtroom he hoped to get a pension from the Russians for his work but the pension never materialized.